Important Health Warning About Playing Video Games

Photosensitive seizures

A very small percentage of people may experience a seizure when exposed to certain visual images, including flashing lights or patterns that may appear in video games. Even people who have no history of seizures or epilepsy may have an undiagnosed condition that can cause these “photosensitive epileptic seizures” while watching video games.

These seizures may have a variety of symptoms, including lightheadedness, altered vision, eye or face twitching, jerking or shaking of arms or legs, disorientation, confusion, or momentary loss of awareness. Seizures may also cause loss of consciousness or convulsions that can lead to injury from falling down or striking nearby objects.

Immediately stop playing and consult a doctor if you experience any of these symptoms. Parents should watch for or ask their children about the above symptoms—children and teenagers are more likely than adults to experience these seizures. The risk of photosensitive epileptic seizures may be reduced by taking the following precautions: Sit farther from the screen; use a smaller screen; play in a well-lit room; do not play when you are drowsy or fatigued.

If you or any of your relatives have a history of seizures or epilepsy, consult a doctor before playing.

ESRB Game Ratings

The Entertainment Software Rating Board (ESRB) ratings are designed to provide consumers, especially parents, with concise, impartial guidance about the age-appropriateness and content of computer and video games. This information can help consumers make informed purchase decisions about which games they deem suitable for their children and families.

ESRB ratings have two equal parts:

- Rating Symbols suggest age appropriateness for the game. These symbols appear on the front of virtually every game box available for retail sale or rental in the United States and Canada.
- Content Descriptors indicate elements in a game that may have triggered a particular rating and/or may be of interest or concern. The descriptors appear on the back of the box next to the rating symbol.

For more information, visit www.ESRB.org

Use MONEY to purchase new outfits from the various clothing stores in Hong Kong, including trendy t-shirts, sharp suits, and various accessories such as hats, shoes, and watches.

Wear matching clothing sets or certain accessories to gain special bonuses and effects. Owned outfits can be changed by accessing the wardrobe in your SAFEHOUSE.

JADE STATUES

Hidden throughout the city are JADE STATUES. Recover them and return them to the Temple Dojo to unlock more combat moves.

FOOD & DRINK

Eating food restores health and may give you temporary BUFFS.

MASSAGE

Massages sharpen the senses and give temporary boosts used to fill your FACE METER.

CONVERSATIONS

You can converse with a wide range of characters in the city. Some are simple conversations with vendors where you can buy food, clothing or other items. At certain points in a conversation an icon will appear; if you respond quickly enough, you will deliver the correct response. This FAST TALK counter is similar to the MELEE counter system in combat. A successful reaction may give you access to closed-off areas or supply more information.
